Black Feminist Politics 'Zine

For your final assignment you and/ or 2 of your classmates are to create a digital (and/or physical!) 'zine that uses images and writing to explain a concept from our Black Feminist Politics course.

What is a 'zine?
A 'zine is a short magazine that activists use to circulate a concept or idea about politics or social movements. 'Zines are typically hand made, 8 to 16 pages long. These are small pamphlets that were easy to circulate and publish outside of typical publication channels.

Requirements
Your zine should be 1000 words and should include in-text parenthetical citations as well as a works cited page. Your writing should be instructive, as if you are teaching a lesson. Use real world examples as well as examples from the course literature to apply the concepts you want your readers to learn. You should use images, colors, and a lot of creativity in this project as a part of its instructive nature. Your 'zine should have a powerful title. Remember zines are pieces of political art and literature so incorporate political advocacy language and action based solutions in your work. Please make sure that your writing is edited and clear and appropriate grammar conventions are utilized. Please include every group member's first and last name on the front of the zine.
