I. Professional History

American Association of Colleges and Universities, Washington, D.C.

President, 2016-present

AAC&U is committed to advancing the democratic purposes of higher education by promoting equity, innovation, and excellence in liberal education. Founded by 150 college presidents in 1915 as the Association of American Colleges, AAC&U currently represents 1,000 independent and public members, including two- and four-year undergraduate institutions, Masters- and doctoral-granting colleges and universities, higher education system offices, international affiliates, and nonprofit organizations. Championing faculty-engaged, sustainable models and strategies for promoting excellence in undergraduate education, AAC&U leads institutions and communities in articulating and demonstrating the value of liberal education for work, citizenship, and life. AAC&U stands at the forefront of the identification of essential learning outcomes; the understanding of employer needs and perceptions; and the development of evidence-based pedagogies, research, and program designs that emphasize the assets all students bring to college rather than their perceived deficits.

As president, I have led two comprehensive strategic planning processes, culminating in ASPIRE: Advancing Student Performance through Integration, Research, and Excellence (2018-2022) and Equity, Innovation, and Excellence (2023-2027). Strategic initiatives have included supporting centers for Truth, Racial Healing and Transformation on college and university campuses; collaborating with Interfaith America to facilitate speaking across religious differences; championing guided pathways within and across institutions for underserved student success; expanding the scope and scale of work on the Valid Assessment of Learning in Undergraduate Education to demonstrate student achievement of learning outcomes; promoting civic learning and the public purpose of higher education, and undertaking systematic research through employer surveys related to the value of liberal education.

Professional service includes membership on the Board of Directors of the National Trust for the Humanities (vice-president and treasurer); the Board of Trustees of the Lingnan Foundation; the Olin College Board of Trustees; Handshake Advisory Board; the Jarislowsky Foundation Advisory Board; the Boyer 2030 Commission; NECHE and WSCUC accreditation site visit teams; the editorial boards for Public Integrity, the Public Philosophy Journal, the Journal of Brentano and the Aristotelian Tradition, LearningWell Magazine; and Phi Beta Kappa Society (president 2018-2021). In addition, I am the host of Northeast Public Radio's The Academic Minute, which has aired weekdays on stations across the country and on Armed Forces Radio since 2010.

Mount Holyoke College, South Hadley, MA.

President, 2010-2016

Sitting on 800 acres in the Pioneer Valley of Massachusetts, Mount Holyoke is a residential, research liberal arts college for women. The first of the Seven Sisters, the College serves 2,300 undergraduate students in 50 majors and employs 240 faculty and 1,000 staff. My presidency was marked by a robust strategic planning process; outreach to local and regional communities; engagement with a world-wide network of Mount Holyoke's 34,000 alumnae; and a commitment to a vibrant campus community. As the CEO, I oversaw a $717m endowment and $128.4m annual operating budget, reporting to a 31-member Board of Trustees. Major initiatives included the development of a blueprint for implementing an integrated five-year strategic planning process that aligned the College's budget planning, facilities master planning, values initiatives, and assessment activities related to the accreditation standards set forth by the New England Association of Schools and Colleges; the establishment of the Lynk Program, connecting liberal arts and sciences to careers; the completion of a $300m comprehensive campaign; the creation of an Office of Planning and Programming and an office for Professional and Graduate Education; the founding of the President's Commission on Work-Life-Family, a President's Commission on Diversity and Inclusion, and Sustainability Week; instituting staff excellence awards to parallel faculty excellence awards; partnering with the U.S. Department of State in the development of the Women in Public Service Project; launching a space audit and Facilities Master Plan; increased visibility through a branding and marketing campaign; and promoting access through service as a public intellectual in monthly broadcasts of "So, That's All Right, Really?" on WHMP's The Bill Newman Show, as host of NPR's The Academic Minute and of Amherst public access television's Difficult Dialogues: Voices From the Valley.

Regional and national service includes membership on the boards of the Council of Independent Colleges (CIC); the Consortium on Financing Higher Education (COFHE); The Commission on Institutions of Higher Education of the New England Association of Schools and Colleges (CIHE); Massachusetts Campus Compact (MACC); Amherst Media; President's Pledge Against Global Poverty; Women's Education Worldwide; Five Colleges, Inc.; the Executive Committee, Senate, the Lebowitz Prize Committee, and the Committee on Qualifications of Phi Beta Kappa; the Division III President's Council of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA); President of the Association of Independent Colleges and Universities in Massachusetts (AICUM); Treasurer of the Women's College Coalition (WCC); Secretary of the Economic Development Council of Western Massachusetts (EDC) and Governance and Finance Committee member.

Professor of Philosophy, 2010-2016

Philosophy for Children, Critical Race Theory, the Sociology of Medicine, and the Sociology of Prisons.

University of Hartford, West Hartford, CT.

Provost, 2008-2010

A private university with a public purpose, the University of Hartford serves 5,000 undergraduate and 1,600 graduate students. Faculty in the seven schools and colleges offer opportunities in more than 100 degree-programs in the arts, humanities, business, engineering and technology, education, and health professions. In addition, the 350-acre campus houses two magnet schools, a Gardner multiple intelligence primary school and a science, technology, engineering and math high school. As the chief academic officer, my direct reports included the seven academic deans; the Director of Libraries; the Chief Information Officer and Director of Informational Technology Services; the Dean of Graduate Studies; the Associate Provost and Dean of Undergraduate Studies; the Assistant Provost and Dean of Faculty Development; and the Assistant Provost for Financial Planning. I worked collaboratively with the four vice presidents and the University's General Counsel and Secretary in support of the President and a 60-member Board of Regents. I was a member of the Board's Executive Committee, University Education Committee, Finance Committee, Investments Committee, and Institutional Advancement Committee. Other committee responsibilities included the Facilities Master Plan Committee; Budget Advisory Committee; the Committee on the DeWitt Museum of Political Life; and the Space Planning Committee.

I served on the boards of the Corporators of the Hartford Art School; the Connecticut Conference of Independent Colleges; and the Hartford Consortium. Initiatives included the development of an academic strategic plan and the completion of a University-wide strategic plan; a university-wide values initiative, "Committed to Community;" facilitation of bi-weekly community conversations among faculty, staff, and students around diversity and inclusion; the creation of a faculty forum for the dissemination of creative, artistic, and research projects; the establishment of dual-degree partnerships between the Hangar Corporation for prosthetics and orthotics and the physical therapy program; the development of a Center for Complexity; the expansion and implementation of the Jackie McLean Fellowship to support scholars and performers from underrepresented groups; the creation of a diversity tool kit for search committees; completion of a Facilities Master Plan; and development of a baseline campus climate survey; establishment of a Center for Service Learning; creation of a Sustainability Task Force; the identification of incubator space to promote technology transfer; appointment of an assessment coordinator; enhancement of the Honors Program and International Studies Program; and coordination of the ten-year self-study report for NEASC.

Professor of Philosophy, 2008-2010

Medical Ethics and the Philosophy of Law.

University of Rhode Island, Kingston, RI.

Vice Provost for Academic Affairs and Dean of the Graduate School, 2006-2008

Rhode Island's flagship university, URI is home to 13,250 undergraduate and 3,000 graduate students on four campuses. I was responsible for assisting the Provost in overseeing the undergraduate curricula in eight colleges, 55 Masters and 36 Ph.D. programs. Direct reports included the Office of Student Learning Outcomes, Assessment, and Accreditation; the Honors Program; the Instructional Development Program; Enrollment Services; the Office of Admission; and the Office of Athletic Compliance. I served as chair of the Academic Advising Steering Committee; the Enrollment Management Committee; and the Curriculum Delivery Committee; and as a member of the Curricular Affairs Committee; the Athletics Advisory Board; the University College and General Education Committee; Learning Outcomes Oversight Committee; Asset Protection Committee; Space Enhancement and Design Allocation Committee; Master Planning Review Committee; Centennial Scholarship Committee; and the Office of Higher Education's PK-16 Committee. I also served on the President's Council for Sustainability, the Branding Steering Committee, and the President's Commission on the Status of Women. In addition, I acted as a liaison between the offices of the president and provost and the Board of Governors.

Interim Vice Provost for Research, Graduate Studies, and Outreach, 2005-2006

I was responsible for the pre-award process; contracts; patents and license agreements; technology transfer; human and animal subject compliance; small boats; hazardous materials; conflict of interest; outreach; all facets of graduate education; and a $77.7m research portfolio. Direct reports included the Division of Compliance in Research; the Division of Research and Technology Transfer; and the two associate deans of the Graduate School. I worked at the national level with the Council of Graduate Schools and the Office of Research Integrity to develop curricula and training materials to promote research ethics, and I served as the Principal Investigator on a $3.5m ADVANCE Grant to promote the careers of women in the STEM disciplines.

Associate Dean of the Graduate School, 2004-2005

I supported the Vice Provost for Research and Dean of the Graduate School in implementing programs designed to enhance graduate education, recruitment, and retention. In addition to the day-to-day administrative responsibilities, I developed a Research Ethics Fellows Program and new orientation program for graduate students of color with funding from a $750k National Science Foundation Northeast Alliance for Graduate Education and the Professoriate grant.

Full Professor of Philosophy, 1996-2008.

Race, Gender, and the Law; Metaphysics; and Medical Ethics.

Philosophy Department Chair, 1997-2001.

Fellow, John Hazen White Sr. Center for Ethics and Public Service, 1994-2008.

Associate Professor of Philosophy, 1991-1996
