Contents

FOREWORD
Speaking Across Differences as Essential to a Liberal Education
   Lynn Pasquerella, Association of American Colleges and Universities ........................................ v

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS ............................................................................................................. vi

WELCOME
   Eboo Patel, Interfaith Youth Core ................................................................................... vii

INTRODUCTION
   Janett I. Cordovés, Interfaith Youth Core, and Dawn Michele Whitehead,
   Association of American Colleges and Universities ........................................................ viii

PART ONE: The Intersections of Interfaith and Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion
Integrating Interfaith Cooperation into Institutional Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion Initiatives
   Dawn Michele Whitehead, Association of American Colleges and Universities ......................... 3

CHAPTER 1
Sewing a Sturdy Diversity Quilt: Interfaith Excellence as a Critical Thread for Saint Mary’s College of California
   Frances M. Sweeney, Saint Mary’s College of California ........................................................... 6

CHAPTER 2
The Importance of Interfaith Training to Employers: A Case Study from an Aviation and Aerospace University
   David Keck, Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University .................................................................... 8

CHAPTER 3
IDEALS: How Data Can Inform Interfaith Planning and Decision-Making
   Shauna Morin and Janett I. Cordovés—both of Interfaith Youth Core ....................................... 11

CHAPTER 4
Lutheran and Interfaith: St. Olaf College’s New Chapter of What It Means to Be “Nourished by Lutheran Tradition”
   Deanna A. Thompson, St. Olaf College ..................................................................................... 17

CHAPTER 5
Connections across Silos: How Loyola Marymount University Is Strengthening
Its Interfaith Work across Campus
   Kathleen F. Weaver and John T. Sebastian—both of Loyola Marymount University .................... 19

PART TWO: Interfaith in the Classroom
How to Use Curriculum to Prepare All Students for the Religiously Diverse World
   Carolyn Roncolato, Interfaith Youth Core ................................................................................ 25
CHAPTER 6
Going with the (Interfaith) Flow: What I’ve Learned While Teaching Not According to the Plan
Olga Solovieva, Washington and Jefferson College .......................................................... 29

CHAPTER 7
Embracing Interfaith in the Classroom: Lessons Learned at a Christian Institution
Andrew F. Haggerty, Pennilyn Dykstra-Pruim, Frans van Liere, Doug Howard, Michelle Loyd-Paige, and Mary Hulst—all of Calvin University ............................ 33

CHAPTER 8
“Respect and Recognition”: The Intergroup Dialogue on Worldviews Course at the University of Miami
Miriam Lipsky, Ashmeet Kaur Oberoi, and Ryan Schooley—all of the University of Miami ........ 35

CHAPTER 9
From Academics to Accommodations: Interfaith, Inclusion, and Interdependence at Ursinus College
Alexandria Frisch, Meredith Goldsmith, and Heather Lobban-Viravong—all of Ursinus College ........ 38

PART THREE: Campus Perspectives

CHAPTER 10
Interfaith Incentives: Funding and Measuring Interfaith Education at Doane University
Amanda Irions, Leah Cech, and Luis Sotelo—all of Doane University ........................................ 43

CHAPTER 11
Relationships, Resilience, and Identity: The Power of Student-Led Multireligious Partnerships
Drew Tucker, Nicky Gutierrez, and Niel Johnson—all of Capital University .............................. 46

CHAPTER 12
Beautiful Things: How Queens University of Charlotte’s Interfaith Programming Built Leadership and Community in a Pandemic
Shawn Bowers and Joey Haynes—both of Queens University of Charlotte ................................. 49

CHAPTER 13
How We Are Called to Be: Interfaith Engagement at Religiously Affiliated Institutions
Jo M. Beld, St. Olaf College; Ellen Crowell, Saint Louis University; Ezra Gwilliam, Brigham Young University–Idaho; Julia Sheetz-Willard, Villanova University; and Frances M. Sweeney, Saint Mary’s College of California .......................................................... 51

APPENDIX ............................................................................................................ 59
GLOSSARY ........................................................................................................... 60
RESOURCES ......................................................................................................... 62
ABOUT THE FUNDERS ....................................................................................... 64
ABOUT THE EDITORS ......................................................................................... 65